Main St. Robber Forces Woman To Aid Getaway

A STROUDSBURG woman reported to police last night that she was robbed of $40 in cash by a man who entered her car while it was stopped at a traffic light, and then ordered her to drive to Smithfield Township.

Assistant Stroudsburg Police Chief Jack Tretheway identified the victim as Mrs. Adelaide Sleeman, 1739 W. Main St., who was left unharmed after the thief warned her not to report the incident to authorities.

Stopped For Light

Tretheway quoted Mrs. Sleeman as saying she had stopped her car for a red light at Sixth and Main Sts. about 6:05 p. m., when suddenly the man jumped into the front seat beside her.

The thief ordered the woman to drive him through East Stroudsburg, past General Hospital to an isolated point on Route 402 in Smithfield Township, between Minisink Hills and Marshalls Creek, police said.

There Mrs. Sleeman was ordered to hand over her wallet containing a $20 bill, and two tens, police continued. The thief then left the car after threatening the woman not to try to identify him or to notify authorities.

Mrs. Sleeman, who was badly shaken up, then returned to Stroudsburg by way of Marshalls Creek, police said further. She telephoned borough authorities after returning to her home.

Mrs. Sleeman described her abductor as being about 30 years old, about five-foot-eight, of slender build, and having dark hair. He was wearing a dark blue wool jacket with gray trim, but had no hat.

Kept Hand in Pocket

Police quoted Mrs. Sleeman as saying that the man kept his hand in a jacket pocket during her ordeal. However, at no time did he reveal that he was carrying a weapon.

Notified by borough authorities, Stroudsburg State Police sent out a teletype alert and searched the area where the incident took place. Their investigation is continuing.

Leader Blames Lobbies For Tax Defeat

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15 (AP)—Gov. Leader today blamed lobbyists for defeat of the manufacturers' excise tax. Then he disclosed he may look to his bosses in big business for a new approach toward settling the year-long tax deadlock.

"This is the foremost problem before us and we are not going to slow down our efforts at all—a governor cannot abdicate his leadership under any circumstances," he declared.

No Alternate Program

He emphasized, however, that "at this moment I do not have an alternate tax program."

With a single exception every question directed at the governor during his half hour weekly news conference dealt with taxes. The conference began less than 15 hours after the Senate defeated his "second best" excise levy proposal by a 20-26 vote.

Major points made by the governor as he spoke in a clearly serious tone and once or twice with pointed anger:

1. He still "absolutely" will veto any sales tax passed by the Legislature.

2. "Very obviously, the excise tax is dead and buried."

Blames Republicans

3. He promised he will "spend 12 months in 1956" to make sure "the people aren't fooled" and understand it is the Republican Senate that is preventing his administration from "getting results."

4. The time has come for Republicans in the Senate and House to "show some semblance" of responsibility.

On lobbyists, the governor said: "They have had a great heyday in the last week or two in Harrisburg. Many companies had six or seven men on the Hill."

It was the pressure from other "Republican senators and those who stand behind the Republican senators" that defeated the excise bill, he said, adding:

"We had the votes for it three different occasions but apparently they couldn't resist pressure so it slipped away."

Tax Conference

"They proved only one thing over there yesterday and that is: The same lobbyists, the same pressure groups, the same corporations, the same utilities, the same people who have pulled the strings for the Republican party Legislature for the last 16 years are still pulling the strings of the Senate. They never have pulled the strings for the people."

The governor added that he was giving serious thought to "inviting the presidents of some great corporations and utilities" to a tax conference. "I would tell them, 'You people operate in Pennsylvania and have the welfare of the state at heart.'"

He wondered if the lobbyists really speak for the top management. Asked who would represent the people in such a tax conference, the governor replied: "I would represent the rank and file. They elected me."

What is the next step in the effort to solve the fiscal problem? He will consult with legislative and party leaders as he has done in formation of both previous administration tax programs. When? Before Christmas?

"We take the time element very seriously and it is rather apparent we have never quit on the tax program. We stayed with it persistently and insistently. We must sit down and thrash it out. That's the way it would start. 'I don't think anyone expects the Democratic party to come up every second Thursday with a new tax program.'"

Gov. Leader today praised the Pennsylvania state police for their "courage, strength, character, loyalty and devotion to duty" at their 50th anniversary celebration.

"In conference with state police officials and during my daily association with state police, I have come to the belief there is no finer group of men in police uniform to be found," the governor declared.

The governor especially cited the work of the Third and Fourth Squadrons during the Aug. 18 flood disaster in eastern Pennsylvania.

In conjunction with the state police anniversary, Gov. Leader signed into law a measure which in effect expands the police force to more than 2,000 men by removing police assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the 1,900-man quota on state police.

Att'y. Gen. Grover C. Richman Jr. and Health Commissioner Daniel Bergman said that by 1957 all pollution of the Delaware from the New Jersey side will be stopped.

County Board Okays Mountain Jointure

Action Puts School Plan Up To State

THE PROPOSED Pocono Mountains Jointure won emphatic approval from Monroe County School Board yesterday. Next stop on the agenda: submitting the petition for jointure to the State Department of Public Instruction for its consideration and probable approval.

County board action brought the eight-district Mountain Jointure one step closer to reality. It has been "in the works" for nearly two years; under constant consideration by the districts involved for the past year.

Eight Districts

Under terms of the joint agreement signed by the boards, the jointure would include seven townships: Barrett, Coolbaugh, Jackson, Paradise, Pocono, Tobyhanna and Tunkhannock—and one borough—Mount Pocono.

These eight boards gave their final approval to the agreement on Wednesday, Nov. 23 at a meeting in Paradise school, Swiftwater. During the past three weeks the various board members from individual districts have been contacted to sign the articles of joint agreement.

Primary aim of the joint school district is the construction of a senior high school for use by secondary students from all eight districts. This high school, to be located near the geographic center of the area taken in, would give the individual districts more badly-needed space for their regular classes.

Effecting the articles of joint agreement was left in the hands of a steering committee. One delegate to this committee was appointed by each of the eight boards.

Approved Assured

It was this committee, headed by temporary chairman Harry J. Drennan of Barrett, which evolved the final, workable agreement signed by boards, David Neison, Paradise, served as temporary secretary.

With the approval of jointure by the separate boards and by the county board of school directors, the future of the combination rests in the hands of State officials. According to county office spokesmen, State approval is virtually assured. When it will come is a matter which will not be known until the decision is reached on the State level, however.

Meanwhile, the local boards will name or have named delegates to a second committee (known as an interim steering committee) to work out details of jointure during the months between now and its effective legal date.

During all discussions this year, the goal has been to have the jointure in working order by July 1, 1956—the next date upon which it could possibly be legally put in operation.

With county board action yesterday and fast transmission of the jointure request to the State, that target date seemed "completely probable," officials said last night.

School Aid Predicted By Rayburn

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) predicted today that a bill providing federal aid for school construction will pass the House in the new session that begins next month.

"I think we'll get a school bill," he said, "because it's becoming more and more evident there is a serious classroom shortage."

Rayburn said Democratic leaders would try for early action.

The House Education Committee has a bill ready, having passed it before Congress quit last summer. It would distribute $1,600,000,000 among the states for school construction over four years, and authorize the federal government to underwrite state and local financing of additional construction.

One stumbling block involves the issue of racial segregation. A Negro Democrat, Rep. Powell of New York, has drawn up an amendment which would forbid spending federal money in school districts in which Negro and white pupils are separated.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.), chairman of the House Rules Committee, said Southerners on his committee would question the inclusion of any such amendment. The Rules Committee has to clear legislation before it can reach the House floor for action.

Hospitals Opposed To State Plan

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Hospital Assn. of Pennsylvania today formally opposed a plan by the state Welfare Department to divert federal hospital aid from community hospitals to state mental institutions.

"The association recognizes the need for additional facilities in the mental health field," declared John F. Worman, executive secretary of the HAP, following a meeting of association officials from all parts of the state.

"The association contends, however, that the state should continue to provide all funds necessary for the mental health program for which it has accepted responsibility," Worman added.

Harry Shapiro, secretary of welfare, said he plans to divert 10 million dollars in federal aid in the next two years to mental institution construction. Previously, state policy was to turn the funds over to community non-profit hospitals.

The funds are appropriated by the federal government on a 1-for-2 matching fund basis, with the state putting up 20 millions for the government's 10 millions.

Studies Aim At Broader Uses Of Atom

By Frank Carey
AP Science Reporter

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15 (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, tonight announced broad plans to get more information on present and potential peacetime uses of nuclear energy "out into the open."

He did so in a speech in which he also hit hard at "clearance" requirements of the Atomic Energy Commission controlling access to confidential or secret information of potential value in peacetime applications.

"It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than it is for a businessman to receive frank and complete and unfettered answers from the Atomic Energy Commission," he declared in a speech before the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress.

Three-Fold Plan

He said his committee hoped—with the aid of public hearings—to do the following during the early part of the next session of Congress:

1. Appraise the present and future impact of peaceful atomic applications "on the American way of life, economy, industry, and natural resources, including the effect on employment." One aid, he said, would be a report by a special "citizens panel," including prominent experts in various fields, which was appointed by the Joint Committee to make a survey.

2. Consider the impact of the atom on economics and industries abroad "as it will affect our economy and industry here at home."

3. Study "the activities" of the AEC "in its roles of developing and regulating the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

Increase Police Force

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15 (AP)—The size of the Pennsylvania state police force is increased 126 men immediately under a new plan signed into law by Gov. Leader today.

Posse Kills Love-Sick Youth Sought For Triple Slaying

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Dec. 15 (AP)—A 17-year-old love-crazed teenager who shot and killed the parents and uncle of the girl who spurned him was fatally shot today in a blazing gun duel with a posse.

John Fallone, a bullet in his brain, died at 6:45 p.m. EST at a Kittanning hospital.

Gladys Small, 15-year-old girl who spurned Fallone, is in serious condition at the same hospital with a bullet wound in her breast. Fallone shot her last night in a wild burst of gunfire which ended in death for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Small, and her uncle, William A. Small.

Fallone's last defiant act was to shoot policeman Gus Zanos of Apollo, Pa., a member of the posse of nearly 50 police and volunteers who tracked him down in the snowy countryside 30 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Zanos missed death by only a fraction of an inch as a bullet hit him under the right eye and ranged upward to lodge under the skull. However, his condition is described as satisfactory.

Members of the posse closed in on Fallone about noon, 30 minutes after Zanos was shot. They found Fallone crumpled in a foxhole-like refuge. His 22 caliber automatic rifle was at his side. So were about 500 rounds of ammunition. He was wearing only blue jeans, a sport shirt and a light tan jacket. He had been in the sub-freezing countryside since fleeing after the slayings about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Although in serious condition, Gladys was able to talk about the events leading up to the shootings. She said she had dated Fallone several months ago, "after which he wouldn't let me talk to other boys."

Threatened Family

"My parents finally forbade me to see him. Then he threatened us, said 'I'll get all of you someday,'" she related.

He came to the house last evening.

Armed with the rifle and a box of dynamite, the boy terrorized the family, shot the girl and killed her parents in the kitchen while five younger children cried in fear. As he walked outside Fallone saw Small's brother, William, 49, returning to the house with help and shot him down in the yard.

Then Fallone fled, and the manhunt was on. Officers continued the search and patrolled roadblocks throughout the night despite near-zero temperatures and intermittent snow.

Print Shop Raided

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 15 (AP)—In a raid on a state-operated printing shop today Secret Service agents and police arrested two men and seized equipment they said could have turned out $200,000 in counterfeit bills.

New Stretch Of Thruway Is Opened

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—The next to last stretch of the New York State Thruway was opened today, including a 60 million dollar bridge across the Hudson River.

Even before the Nyack-Tarrytown bridge was opened to traffic, it recorded its first auto accident. Two autos in a 400-foot motorcade skidded on ice and were damaged. There were no injuries.

The new 28 mile stretch of Thruway from Suffern to Yonkers was thrown open to traffic at 5 p.m.

The new link provides six-lane toll travel from the outskirts of New York City to Buffalo 424 miles away. A three mile section between New York and Yonkers is due for completion next year.

RED BANK, N. J., Dec. 15 (AP)—The N. J. Highway Authority announced today it will construct a 9-mile 18 million dollar feeder road to join the Garden State Parkway and the New York State Thruway.

Only One Case Of Paratyphoid Noted Yesterday

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 15 (AP)—The paratyphoid epidemic in the Lancaster area appears to have gradually run its course with one new case reported today. This brings the total to 179.

Health officials are still trying to determine the cause of the outbreak. Most of the cases, they said, have been traced to consumers of one dairy's products. The dairy voluntarily closed pending further investigation.

Paratyphoid is like typhoid but milder.

Governor Lauds State Police On Anniversary

HERSHEY, Pa., Dec. 15 (AP)—Gov. Leader today praised the Pennsylvania state police for their "courage, strength, character, loyalty and devotion to duty" at their 50th anniversary celebration.

"In conference with state police officials and during my daily association with state police, I have come to the belief there is no finer group of men in police uniform to be found," the governor declared.

Delaware River Cleanup Planned

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 15 (AP)—Two top New Jersey officials today said the 220-mile long Delaware River will be cleaned up in the "not-to-distant future."

Att'y. Gen. Grover C. Richman Jr. and Health Commissioner Daniel Bergman said that by 1957 all pollution of the Delaware from the New Jersey side will be stopped.

Storms Take Seven Lives

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Storms raging over the Atlantic and the North Sea took seven lives today and four fishermen were reported missing.

A Royal Air Force helicopter crashed into the 115-foot Bell Rock lighthouse off Scotland's east coast in a mist. Both crewmen were killed.

Farther north, in the Moray Firth, a gale blew the 130-ton Belgian trawler Beatrix-Fernande on the rocks. Five of the crew were rescued, another was drowned and two were missing.

The French fishing boat Andre-Suzanne was missing in a storm off Ile d'Yeu. The bodies of two fishermen were recovered from the sea but two others were missing.

The winter's worst snowstorm swept Denmark, stranding hundreds of cars and delaying rail, sea and air traffic. Two fishermen drowned at Skagen, Jutland.

Cold Wave, Snow Move On Buffalo

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—New Yorkers braced for bone-chilling cold tonight and tomorrow, and perhaps piles of new snow in some areas already wading in up to a foot.

The Weather Bureau in Buffalo predicted up to two feet of snow would fall by tomorrow in areas south of Buffalo and in the Watertown snow belt was unpredictable.

"Maybe two inches, maybe two feet," State police anticipated two to three feet in the Adams-Lovell stretch south of Watertown.

State police said many upstate roads were slippery and were likely to become worse overnight as temperatures dropped. Overnight temperatures ranging from 18 above in southeastern New York to five above around the Finger Lakes and Lake Ontario were predicted.

Restraint Urged

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) tonight urged Israel to show "restraint" and "respect for each human life" in its dealings with the Arabs.

Chilly Winds Whip Across Pennsylvania

By The Associated Press

BUFFING COLD, whipped along by strong winds, spread over Pennsylvania last night, and the prospect was that winter's heavy hand would cover most of the state at least through today.

Snow flurries were forecast for some areas, particularly the mountain regions and near Lake Erie.

Zero temperatures were reported at Rockwood, Somerset County, and several other points in Western Pennsylvania. The cold wave also moved into Central and Eastern Pennsylvania and drove the mercury toward the zero mark.

NATO To Build Air Warning Net

By Joseph E. Dynan

PARIS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Western statesmen decided today to construct a unified air raid warning screen from Norway across Europe to Turkey, backed by a new jam-proof communications net.

The United States will pay for the beginning of this installation.

The foreign, finance and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization took this step on an urgent report from U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that the Soviet Union has reopened the cold war.

Support Dulles

NATO's own military planners backed Dulles with a warning that the Russian military threat is greater now than ever before. The Soviets now have speedily jet bombers capable of blasting any part of the NATO area with tremendous nuclear explosives.

Proposals submitted in person by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, for a more efficient coordination of air defenses as a step toward their eventual integration were accepted promptly by the NATO ministers. The Gruenther program will lump the various national air defenses in four regions—North, Central and South Europe, and Britain.

Gruenther's proposals conform to a plan advanced by Dutch Foreign Minister Johan W. Beyen for a complete unification of Western Europe's aerial defenses. In today's session, it was learned, Beyen commented that the Gruenther ideas were fine but did not go far enough.

Air Coordination

Gruenther told a news conference later that his command staff felt coordination of air forces is as much as the NATO members can undertake now.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe also felt, he said, that this is as much as SHAPE's personnel and equipment can handle at present.

U. S. Condemns Russian Veto Of Japan For U. N. Membership

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States charged today that Russia vetoed Japan's bid for United Nations membership in order to keep a "bargaining pawn" in negotiations with the Japanese.

The State Department appealed to Russia to reverse its stand quickly, wiping out what it called the Soviet's "cynical action" and "glaring injustice."

Withhold Praise

The denunciation of Russia's record of casting 45 vetoes to block new members was the second issued by the State Department within 24 hours.

It withheld any praise for Russia's surprise move yesterday in agreeing to admit 12 Western-backed countries, along with four Communist-supported nations. Instead, it concentrated its attention on Russia's third veto of Japan's membership application.

Press officer Lincoln White expressed belief that Russia blocked Japan's bid in order to pressure

It's Time For Legislators To Forget Party Line And Enact Sales Tax Bill

Now that Governor Leader's excise tax bill has met decided defeat in the State Senate's party-line vote Wednesday, it would seem to us that this is a mandate from the people of the commonwealth that this proposed tax is, at its best, unpopular.

The Daily Record reiterates that the Commonwealth needs money—lots of it. At the same time we think that:

1. The house was more than hasty in forcing through an inept excise tax bill in such a speedy fashion.
2. That the governor should come down off his high perch and ask both parties in both the house and senate to propose and pass a broad-based sales tax before the turn of the year.

Apparently Senator Mahoney, Republican floor leader, knows that something must be done to meet the state's financial obligations.

Ford Foundation's Generous Gifts Stand As Tremendous Tribute To Free Enterprise

The news columns have carried detailed reports of the amazing distribution of funds allotted by the Ford Foundation, so it would be repetitious to recite the individual institutions so favored. Rather would it be simpler to print the comparatively few colleges and hospitals in the United States not included in the impressively long list of beneficiaries of the Ford generosity.

Suffice it to say that in all of Pennsylvania, the colleges will receive $18,061,000 and the hospitals $20,135,800.

Never in all history has there been such an outpouring of funds from a private institution, funds specifically earmarked for betterment of colleges and universities and more especially to improve the economic situation of the men and women who teach in those colleges. Only last spring, it will be remembered, the Ford Foundation gave $50 million for salary increases in the colleges, and this latest munificent gift is in addition to that earlier one.

In making the official announcement of the astonishing allocation of funds across the nation, the trustees said it was done "to supplement and encourage the efforts of the American people in meeting problems affecting the progress of the whole nation."

Thus does one of the great industrial giants of the world return to the citizens of the United States a mammoth share of the

He realizes that this bickering must end somewhere and announced Wednesday that "there is a good possibility that the defeated measure would be received by Republicans next week so that it can be placed in position for possible action in the future."

The Senate leader would not go into detail when interviewed by an Associated Press reporter but there are reports, says the AP, that the GOP wants a vehicle on hand for possible transformation into some form of a sales tax.

If legislators of both houses can forget party lines for once and bring about a sales tax in which everyone will participate they will have solved the financial problems of the commonwealth. At the same time they will have given the common man something to deduct from his federal income tax return, while at the same time furnishing the wherewithal to pay the state's debts.

profits produced by Henry Ford's genius. Perhaps only the oldest generation can remember the days of his avowed intent to put everyone in his homeland in a motor vehicle, and the syncretized progress of the Model T with its constant ailments and recurrent woes became standard jokes for the comedians of the time.

As we read the breath-taking story of the latest gifts, it was inevitable that our mind should turn to those other nations of the world whose citizens look with critical eyes on practically everything in our own homeland, and we wondered when in their history there ever was such a generous return of monies to the citizens whose efforts combined to produce such profits.

The answer of course is obvious, for in all other lands where fortunes have been created by one means and another, there never has been the thoughtfully inspired restoration of funds for the betterment of all, such as brightens the present gifts.

Small minded men will not like this demonstration of philanthropic generosity, for they will see in it the direct denial of all the untruths they have mouthed against our free enterprise system.

For ourselves, we sense an increased feeling of pride that we are citizens of a land where such things happen.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Study Should Be Made Of What Part Newspapers Play In Influencing Voters

I see by the papers that Sigma Delta Chi, which I am told is a professional journalistic fraternity, will seek $650,000 from a national foundation to study "the performance of daily newspapers in covering news of the 1956 Presidential campaign." It looks to me as though somebody is looking for a job and I recommend that the Fund for the Republic might give him the $650,000 to do with as he likes. After all, that is how the Fund got its money from the Ford Foundation. True, the job could be done for nothing by some scholarly chap looking for a subject for a Ph.D. thesis; it is easy and would cost perhaps $500 for typing. The newspapers could be found in a library.

I could write his report right now without charging anything. Most newspapers will give more space to the Democrats than to the Republicans because the Democratic candidate will be more colorful than the Republican. That is the way it has been for many years. William Jennings Bryan was more colorful than William McKinley. Theodore Roosevelt was a news-worthy fellow but they made a Vice President of him. Few Vice Presidents are worth more than a mention unless they are like Henry Wallace, the Samson of the New Deal.

Neither Bryan nor Wallace was elected to the Presidency but Theodore Roosevelt was, after McKinley was killed, and he made copy in and out of the office because he was an interesting, exciting person. Surely nobody the Republicans nominated to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt was as exciting as the great New Dealer. Wendell Willkie tried hard but his voice gave out. Besides, Willkie was a synthetic personality, just a country boy surprised by the sounds and sights of the big city. Anyhow, he did not make the Presidency and is practically forgotten except by a cult in New York who get their names in the newspapers once a year when they worship his memory at a banquet.

It has been repeated that Alice Longworth, the most intelligent of living Roosevelts, once said of Thomas E. Dewey, "Who ever saw a soufflé rise twice?" I did not verify the remark because it is too good to question. It can apply as well to Adlai Stevenson. Certainly Mr. Dewey produces little news when he runs for office. On the other hand, Harry Truman can say nothing in the most interesting and news-worthy manner. He is either threatening to kick someone in the groin or is calling a man a perfect but unmanly description. It takes challenging ingenuity to report Truman without going to jail for lascivious language. So Truman always gets a break in the news, even if what he says adds nothing to history. Not even to his kind of history.

So in this campaign, that is 1956, should Adlai Stevenson run, his speeches will not be as interesting as in 1952, for two reasons: one, we have heard them; two, one of his more literary ghosts died. If Harriman runs, his speeches will have the interest that he will be attacking the Republicans for what the Democrats initiated. It is a switch that will fascinate, particularly the Taft Republicans. If Eisenhower runs, he will make front pages because he is President of the United States, but his copy will be read with difficulty because his speech-writers are dull boys with never a smart phrase in their souls. Unless William Knowland is the Republican candidate, the same factory will grind out the Republican speeches. Knowland will get a factory of his own.

There is a further point the Sigma Delta Chi investigator might note: Adlai Stevenson made better speeches than Eisenhower did in 1952. Eisenhower was elected. Stevenson got plenty of newspaper space because he was a bit of a shock; that did not elect him. So one asks, what part do the newspapers play in helping the voter make up his mind? Now that would be an interesting psychological and sociological topic for study, because, as of today, nobody knows the answer.

I certainly hope that the guy who wants to handle $650,000 gets a chance at the money. When his name is announced, perhaps we shall give him a little scrutiny to make sure that he is not a Communist who hates elections anyhow. The Fund for the Republic, however, may not be around for the 1956 Election.

from the fans. This was the much feared "multiple parts" punch and seemed for a moment to shake Joyce to her angles (very pretty ones, too). Mr. Eagan appeared slightly staggered by the realization that "Kid" Cosmetics had gone away back to the eighteen seventies and swung from that position, putting everything he had into it. "Rocky" Brothers was on robbery but attractive legs and took a four-count. She got up and asked the referee to take time to brush the dirt from her gloves. The "Kid" closed in for the kill with a haymaker from English prize-ring history and landed flush on the jaw. Eagan whispered instructions. He was a pillar of Oxonian support. The fans were on their feet. There was a cry of "Stop it!" But from "Rocky's" lips came the words "Byron" and "Mendoza" and the crowd seemed to sense the coming upset.

My America —by Harry Boyd Jayce's Democracy Contest Outstanding Civic Operation

I just came from helping judge some high school students' entries in the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce "I Speak for Democracy" contest, and I feel good. Pretty good, at least. These youngsters did a very good job of composing and speaking their pieces extolling the American way of life. They obviously had put some thought into the effort, they organized their arguments well, and they had dug around for some concrete illustrations to bolster their points.

What's more, they sounded as if they meant what they said. And in these days of fashionable cynicism, dyspeptic carping and incessant belly-aching it is refreshing to hear youthful voices enthusiastically acclaiming what's right with this country.

The Jaycees are doing the nation a real favor by sponsoring a competition that gives us a brief annual respite from the despairing moans of the crybabies and calamity howlers.

And yet it saddens me a little to think that we are normally so indifferent to the advantages of the American form of democracy that a bright teen-ager can win a prize by putting together a five-minute speech reminding us of some of them.

And it saddens me even more that the youngster doesn't have to scratch too hard to find reasonably fresh and impressive illustrations of those advantages.

We ought to be so keenly conscious of the benefits of living in a free country that only a genius could occasionally impress us with a more eloquent recital of them than any of us could give ourselves, at the drop of a hat.

Every hour of the day each of us savors some satisfaction, enjoys some privilege, exercises some right that comes to him only because he lives under a Constitution based on respect for the dignity of the individual. It would be good for his soul, and insurance for the continuance of his good fortune, if each time that happens he would pause just a second to jot it down mentally as another dividend of freedom. It would be an even better idea—one that would straighten the roots of democracy and freedom—it occasionally we'd all devote some of our woolgathering time to think about what the American philosophy and tradition contribute to the aspects of our life we cherish most.

More thought applied in that direction would get our appraisal of democracy out of the realm of clichés, platitudes, and weary words. It would put firm meat on the bare bones of the principles to which we pay lip service on the Fourth of July and Veterans day.

It would make us so eternally glad we live in a country like this that we might begin to look at the country's admitted shortcomings in true perspective, and to deal with them as the relatively minor flaws they are.

Then nobody could win prizes speaking for democracy. The competition would be so great he couldn't make himself heard.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A balding gent, in his late fifties, felt his pep slipping away, and went to his doctor for a check-up. The medico announced, "Nothing wrong with you that carrots, and plenty of them, can't cure. Take as many as you like." A month later, the doctor noted a distinct improvement. "Just go on eating carrots," he prescribed. The patient jumped from his chair, crying, "Carrots? Good Lord, Doc, I thought you said I was drinking a bottle a day!"

A finicky customer at a roadside drive-in complained about the looks of his fried eggs. "Maybe you'd like them turned over," suggested a helpful waitress. "Exactly," agreed the customer. "Turn them over to the Museum of Natural History."

What distinguishes Moscow department stores from similar institutions outside the Iron Curtain, maintains Gene Sherman, is that in Moscow the customer is always left.

Robert S. Allen Reports Voice Of America To Get Slice Of Military Budget

Washington, December 16 — There is a three-fold expansion of foreign spending behind that $1,000,000,000 increase in the military budget disclosed at President Eisenhower's conference with the bi-partisan leaders of Congress.

The two other facets of this momentous program are: $200,000,000 more for foreign military and economic aid, for an overall total of $4,400,000,000 in the fiscal year starting next July 1. $50,000,000 additional for the "Voice of America", bringing its new budget up to $130,000,000 from $80,000,000. Significantly, all of the extra $1,000,000,000 for military spending goes to the Air Force—and then some.

The Army and Navy are earmarked for new cuts, with that money also going to the Air Force for its recently accelerated build-up in planes and personnel. Under this enlarged spending plan, the over-all strength of the armed forces will be raised to 2,906,000 from 2,842,000 — with the Air Force getting all of the added 44,000.

Following is the unannounced breakdown of this major shift in budget policy as outlined to the congressional leaders:

Total Spending For Fiscal Year: Air Force, 1956, $130,000,000, 1957, $165,350,000; Navy, 1956, $97,000,000, 1957, $9,565,200,000; Army, 1956, $8,900,000, 1957, $8,575,360,000; Office of Defense Secretary, 1956, $600,000, 1957, $605,000,000; Guided Missiles and other Inter-Service projects, 1957, $200,000,000. Total, 1956, $345,000,000, 1957, $357,910,000.

The lawmakers listened with intent interest to this plan. House Democratic Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., asked how much the military has in unspent appropriations.

"It amounts to around $4,000,000,000," replied Defense Secretary Wilson.

"If that's all you've got," said McCormack, "then you are going to have to ask for considerably more than $1,000,000,000 to maintain a $35,500,000,000 spending level in fiscal 1957. Isn't that right?"

"We don't think so," declared Wilson.

What Was Said — President Eisenhower personally urged the $50,000,000 increase for "Voice of America" activities. Secretary of State Dulles had told the congressional leaders "the real battle facing us is for the minds of men." He stressed the "imperative necessity" to exert every effort in this crucial struggle. The President strongly supported this view.

"This expanded 'Voice of America' program," he declared, "has my complete backing. I am for it one thousand percent, and I earnestly hope that you gentlemen will give it your full support. I am aware we are asking for a large increase in this budget, but I can assure you that every cent of this $130,000,000 is essential if we are to win the cold war with the Soviet and its satellite empire."

An unannounced Administration decision to directly challenge Kremlin machinations in strategic undeveloped areas was the reason given by Dulles for the proposed $200,000,000 increase in foreign military and economic aid.

"We are going to meet this latest Communist threat head-on," Dulles explained. "If there is serious likelihood that Russian aid may entice a country into that orbit, we will step in with our own aid program and do our utmost to block the Communists. There is an encouraging aspect to their aid tactics. It's not all one-sided, by far."

"These operations present many difficulties for them as for us. The Soviet may well over-reach itself. It's already extended about as far as it can safely go, and heavy aid commitments in Asia, the Middle East and elsewhere could easily backfire against the Russians. That has happened before, and can do so again. That's an old story with the Communists, which the neutralists and others either don't know or are conveniently overlooking. But they may learn it in a painful manner."

Representative McCormack called Dulles' attention to the fact that he had said nothing about the critical situation in Southeast Asia.

"There have been authoritative reports that Thailand is moving towards the neutral bloc," said McCormack. "What about that; is that the situation here, and if so why?"

"I am very hopeful about that area," replied Dulles. "Thailand is rapidly becoming a strong member of SEATO, and there has been great improvement in South Vietnam. Premier Diem has the complete confidence of the people, and the Communists are steadily losing ground in that country."

During a brief recess in the conference, McCormack and Senate Republican Leader William Knowland, Calif., exchanged views regarding the Far East. The House Democratic Leader expressed the opinion that "Dulles is too optimistic."

"I am sure of that," declared Knowland, who asked no questions throughout the meeting. "That may be the reason he has said nothing about Formosa."

"Yes," added McCormack, "and he has also said nothing about a number of other highly explosive situations; such as the Berlin crisis, those Russian hydrogen bomb tests, the long-

On Broadway

"The Merchant of Yonkers" was a quick flop several seasons ago. Thornton Wilder proved an odd secret of good writing is rewriting. So he re-wrote it and named it "The Matchmaker." The Big Street's latest smash laugh-riot . . . Ruth Gordon, who lights up that hit, also won the Candor Trophy. Confessed she's 60. (Looks 20 years younger) . . . The Music Hall's Yule show is always a treat. Merry as Jingle Bells . . . "Janus" (starring Margaret Sullivan) has the added distinction of making an income-tax collector seem amusing . . . H. Burlesk is banned in Our Town but you can get strip-teasers in "Silk Stockings," "Fanny" and "Damn Yankees" . . . The Glamour of Stardom: Susan Strasberg, who twinkles in "Diary of Anne Frank," rises at 9 a.m., attends high-school, goes home to do homework and then to the theatre.

Don't worry about Ava Gardner, folks. Her contract brings her $200,000 per year for the next four. Then she's eligible for her studio's generous pension . . . Farm Show Space Now Sold Out

—by H. G. Heller

Dr. William L. Henning, State Secretary of Agriculture, today announced that all commercial exhibit space has been allocated for the 1956 Pennsylvania Farm Show which opens January 9 and runs for five days and four nights.

He declared that more than one hundred applicants for commercial exhibit space could not be accommodated due to lack of space in the more than five acres of floor area set aside for commercial and educational exhibits.

"This situation points up the urgent need for additional facilities at the Farm Show," the chairman of the Farm Show Commission declared. "Livestock areas also will be filled to capacity. More than 130 head of livestock had to be turned down. But we still have the biggest Farm Show in history."

Because of the great interest shown by farmers in the newest farm machines, approximately half of the four-acre main exhibition hall will be filled with latest models of all types of equipment. Dr. Henning said. Some entirely new farm machines will be shown for the first time anywhere, he added. Safety and efficiency is stressed in newer models and all displays will feature equipment adapted to use on Pennsylvania's family-size farms.

Other areas in the main exhibition hall will display dairy and other types of barn apparatus, poultry equipment, commercial seeds, feeds, fertilizers, pesticides, nursery and other supplies and implements used in present-day farming.

A section of the main floor has been allocated to exhibitors of farm home appliances such as refrigeration units, gas and electric ranges, various types of electrical appliances and labor saving kitchen layouts and equipment.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Fight Night We saw both Dempsey-Tunney fights, the Dempsey-Firpo, the Joe Louis series and the Rocky Marciano battles, but never felt more suspense than we felt from our ringside seats at the Joyce ("Rocky") Brothers versus "Kid" Cosmetics for the American Quilzweight championship. $64,000 winner-take-all contest . . . Joyce won in the closing seconds of the final round, but it was a thriller with the result always in doubt . . . Smart seconding by Eddie ("Noodle") Eagan saved Joyce in a moment of grogginess, but she won like a champ. "Kid" Cosmetics was fit and ready. "Rocky" Brothers looked frail and nervous, although her form could not be denied. She got more cheers from more people than anybody in pugilistic history as she came into the ring. There were many who thought that she could score an upset, given luck. Mr. Eagan and her new punch, "The isolation booth boy."

"Kid" Cosmetics was confident and smiling, dancing in his corner with two police trainers. He made no protest when Eagan appeared in "Rocky" Joyce's corner, with all Oxford and Madison Square Garden behind him. At the bell-Joyce came bounding out of her corner, tense but sharp and eager. The "Kid" threw one from the floor. It was low and brought cries of "Foul!"

from the fans. This was the much feared "multiple parts" punch and seemed for a moment to shake Joyce to her angles (very pretty ones, too). Mr. Eagan appeared slightly staggered by the realization that "Kid" Cosmetics had gone away back to the eighteen seventies and swung from that position, putting everything he had into it. "Rocky" Brothers was on robbery but attractive legs and took a four-count. She got up and asked the referee to take time to brush the dirt from her gloves. The "Kid" closed in for the kill with a haymaker from English prize-ring history and landed flush on the jaw. Eagan whispered instructions. He was a pillar of Oxonian support. The fans were on their feet. There was a cry of "Stop it!" But from "Rocky's" lips came the words "Byron" and "Mendoza" and the crowd seemed to sense the coming upset.

Chest Agency Shows Appreciation For Success Of Annual Campaign

THE VISITING NURSE Association of Monroe County officially went on record yesterday praising Community Chest officials, contributors and workers for their efforts in the current successful campaign.

The association is a member agency of the Community Chest. In a special resolution passed by the board of directors and issued by Mrs. Roger Dunning, board president, the organization said:

"The Visiting Nurse Association of Monroe County, a participating member of the Monroe County Community Chest is grateful to all those who have given so generously to make the recent Community Chest campaign successful."

To Make Extra Call

"In appreciation of the successful campaign, the association will make one call without charge to each new referral during the remainder of 1956."

The association makes only a nominal charge in cases referred to it—always dependent upon the patient's ability to pay and the financial status of the family.

The board expressed its "deep gratitude" to all those within the Chest organization who had worked to make the current campaign a success. At the same time members of the board attempted to clarify the organization's purpose within the community with the following press release:

"The Visiting Nurse Association employs registered graduate nurses who are prepared to assist those who need them no matter how much money the family may have or where it may live. The Visiting Nurse will visit your home daily, if necessary. How often she comes and how long she stays will be determined by the patient's condition and the time required to give nursing care and instruction.

Services Provided

"Do you need help in taking care of a member of your family who is sick at home? Do you need assistance in carrying out your doctor's orders? Do you need advice on how to plan meals and feed your family well? Do you need information on how to care for your new baby?"

"The Visiting Nurse can give or show you how to give nursing care to any member of your family, old or young, no matter how sick. She can help you with special treatment under the direction of the family physician. She can help you find medical supervision for your family. She can help you with problems of young children—such as feeding problems, behavior questions or corrective needs which may help your child toward good physical and emotional health.

"The Visiting Nurse Association functions through your support of the Community Chest—to prevent illness, to find and obtain treatment early in an illness and to render professional nursing care to the sick at home. Nurses working for the Association are Mrs.

Virginia DePuy, R. N., executive director; Mrs. Lorraine D. Krakowsky, R. N., staff nurse; Mrs. Marion Oyer, R. N., substitute and Mrs. Edna Monti, instructor.

"To request an explanatory or demonstration visit by the VNA, simply telephone Stroudsburg 1293 and ask to speak to the Visiting Nurse office. As a token of the VNA's appreciation for your support of the Community Chest you may receive one visit, if requested in 1956, without charge. Future visits, of course, would be based on actual cost and the ability to pay."

Ike Unlike Some Other First Termers

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Everybody, except maybe Dwight D. Eisenhower, seems to know when he should say whether or not he will run again.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) thinks mid-January will be about right. Leonard Hall, the Republican national chairman, thinks Eisenhower can wait until late February or March. Sen. Irving Ives (R-NY) thinks the sensible thing is for the President to take all the time he needs.

Generally, a first term President is considered sure to try to run again. That was true of Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, and it was true of Coolidge and Truman after they moved up from the vice presidency. There was no need for a clear-cut announcement.

Coolidge Recalled
Eisenhower differs in a couple of respects. First, his heart attack may rule out his attempting, at 66, a campaign for another term. Second, as a military man, he may not hanker for another four years of politics, even if he feels his health could stand up under it.

Coolidge was the early bird. A full year ahead of convention time, on Aug. 2, 1927, Coolidge released the famous words that he had written in long hand with a blue pencil:

"I do not choose to run for President in nineteen twenty-eight."

Roosevelt: By comparison with Coolidge, a dilly-dallier, Eleanor Roosevelt, in her book "This I Remember," says that by June, 1940, shortly before the convention, she knew what the score was.

"I knew by that time," Mrs. Roosevelt wrote, "that those who thought the war inevitable had persuaded Franklin that he could not refuse to run for a third term if he were nominated. I believe he did not honestly want the nomination."

"I Shall Accept"
His public announcement on a fourth term came even later, on July 11, 1944.

"If the convention should nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept," FDR said. "If the people elect me, I will serve."

Selective Stocks Advance But Average Drops Slightly

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—The stock market developed a highly selective character today and closed lower despite strength in many key stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 20 cents at $178.20. The industrial component managed to advance 10 cents while rails were off 60 cents and utilities remained unchanged.

The list was the narrowest since Armistice Day with 1,142 issues traded. There were 396 advancing stocks and 514 declining. Twenty-three touched new highs. Thirteen made new lows.

Volume was relatively low at 2,260,000 shares as compared with 2,670,000 shares traded yesterday.

Chrysler up 1 1/2% at 90 1/2, was among the most active. As low as 88 in the morning, it was singled out by buyers in midsession and made good progress thereafter.

Consolidated Natural Gas gained a point at 35 1/2 on a higher dividend.

Rohm & Haas gained 30 at 300 while Superior Oil of California dropped back 30 at 970.

Among advancing stocks were Goodrich up 1 1/2%, Seiberling Rubber 1 1/2%, American Telephone 1/2%, Pennsylvania Railroad 1/2%, Standard Oil (NJ) 1/2%, Central Railroad of New Jersey 3/4%, and Dana Corp. 2 1/2%.

Down were U. S. Steel off 1/2%, RCA 1/2%, Commonwealth Edison 1/2%, American Tobacco 1/2%, New York Central 1/2%, and North American Aviation 1 1/2%.

The American Stock Exchange and corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. government issues traded over the counter were higher.

BPW Club Entertains 30 Guests

Thirty special guests joined the Business and Professional Women's Club for their meeting last night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. To the oldest of these special guests, Mrs. Carrie Halterman, 90, an orchid was presented by Joyce Gunn, chairman of the annual party.

Also introduced were two charter members of the club, the Misses Minnie and Margaret Bising.

Following the dinner, the choral group of East Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Robert Hartman sang carols, and a colored film "The Spirit of Christmas" was shown by Betty Clark of the Bell Telephone Co.

Climax of the party was the appearance of Santa Claus and the distribution of gifts.

Fidelia Class Brings Gifts For the Aged

The Fidelia Class of St. John's Ev. Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Hagmayer with Mrs. Thomas Knepp as co-hostess.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Daniel Lyons. The Helen Dreher Memorial Bank was opened, yielding $51.17 for the year. Thus making a total of $477.18 in that fund.

Gifts were collected for the aged at the Lutheran Home at Germantown. There were 155 items for women and 44 items for men.

The devotions were led by Mrs. Mitchell Staehle. A short discussion on the church calendar was given by Mrs. Daniel Lyons. The nominating committee, Mrs. Mitchell Staehle and Mrs. Russell Renninger, nominated the following new officers, which were then elected by the class: president, Mrs. Richard Hagmayer; vice president, Mrs. William Bolear; secretary, Mrs. Edwin Buck; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Barnes.

The Christmas party will be held Jan. 4 at the home of Mrs. George Miller. A social time, with games, was enjoyed after the meeting, prizes being won by Mrs. Russell Renninger and Mrs. Daniel Lyons.

The hostesses, Mrs. Hagmayer and Mrs. Knepp, served delicious refreshments to the following: Mrs. Miles Green, Mrs. Harold Hamlin, Mrs. George Stabenow, Miss Thelma Shaw, Mrs. Edwin Buck, Miss Goldie Marsh, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Leslie Keller, Mrs. Theodore Meyer, Mrs. Joseph Barnes, Mrs. Mitchell Staehle, Mrs. Russell Renninger, Mrs. Jesse James, Mrs. Daniel Lyons.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

The flood tide of Christmas decorations is mounting and we're likely to get swamped in greens, ornaments, stars and tinsel and red and green lights. Probably the most elaborate of the decorations center around the Garden Clubs who are sort of arrangement specialists anyway.

This week with both the Pocono Garden Club and the Monroe County Garden Club meeting we should be able to garner enough ideas to last us through the next ten years of Christmas decorations, because in addition to their table decorations, they both had exhibits, too.

I sort of like Mrs. Nixon's ideas with the packages. It always seems such a shame to destroy the hours of work which have made them into such things of beauty, but after all you do want to see what's inside. So Mrs. Nixon decorates the box, not wraps it. That way you can lift the lid and latch on to the loot.

Mrs. Nicholas President Of Kunkletown Aux.

Kunkletown—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Kunkletown Volunteer Fire Company held their business meeting and election of officers in the lodge hall Monday night. The new officers elected are: President, Mrs. Leon Nicholas; vice president, Mrs. Earl Lohrer; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter Smith; financial secretary, Miss Bertha Ziegenfus; and treasurer, Mrs. Herman Barlieb. Miss Marlene Christman was elected chaplain for the coming year.

They voted a donation of $1,000 to the building fund for the fire house and community hall.

It was decided by the group to hold a card party Saturday, January 7, at Greenzweig's Hall. A refreshment committee for the event was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Claude Horney, Mrs. Harvey Smale, and Mrs. Mildred Weiss. A committee for games and entertainment was also appointed with Mrs. Ernest Pearson, Mrs. Allan Hawk, Mrs. Howard Meekes, Mrs. Leon Nicholas and Mrs. Arling Balliet.

At the close of the business meeting they adjourned to the American Hotel for their annual Christmas party. The evening ended with games, refreshments and an exchange of Christmas gifts.

450 Present For Parochial PTA Meeting

More than 450 parents and children filled the St. Matthew's school auditorium for the meeting of the Parents Association on Monday night. The program featured Christmas songs by the Madrigal Singers under the direction of Numa Snyder, and two Christmas films: "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and "The Night Before Christmas." Joseph Derenzis showed the films which were provided by the Bell Telephone Co.

During the business meeting, plans for the January meeting were announced by Mrs. Jack Meyers. Mrs. James Cummings will serve as chairman of a panel which will discuss "Zoning in the Stroudsburgs." The meeting will be preceded by a spaghetti supper. Rev. Harold Durkin announced the confraternity meeting on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

The meeting was climaxed by the appearance of Charles Baker as Santa Claus to distribute gifts for the children. Refreshments were served by the second grade parents with Mrs. Thomas Leonard, chairman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. James Cummings, Mrs. Arthur Henning, Mr. and Mrs. John Brent, Mrs. Chabocka, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Burnett, Mrs. Zigmont Vieschnicki, Mrs. Arthur Blewitt, Mrs. Wesley Beach, Adolph Opper and Mrs. Andrew Milazzo.

The most decked out person of all yesterday was Ola Frisbie, though I doubt if even her fellow business women recognized her. She was the Santa Claus at the BPM Christmas party.

Now if everybody would only do that for me, in assorted sizes, of course, my wrapping could all be finished for next year.

But it's not only the tea tables and club rooms and packages that are decorated this season of the year. So are the people. One Skitter bowled yesterday with bright little Christmas balls for ear-rings. Red dresses and holly corsages fit right in with the color scheme.

Gardeners Make Gala Decorations

Special Christmas exhibits marked the meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club held yesterday afternoon in the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. Mrs. David Shiffer presided at the opening session when a moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. O. P. Hoffman.

The arrangements made by the members were presented by Mrs. Ralph Mosch in the absence of Mrs. Bernard Peters. Among them were many unusual ones: "The Kissing Bell" by Mrs. Russell Harmon; painted goldenrod on which perched birds above a feeder and drinking dish by Mrs. Roy Houser; the symbolic Advent Wreath by Mrs. William Hannas; "Packages" by Mrs. J. V. Nixon.

Three table settings were also displayed. Mrs. Robert Miller composed a centerpiece of magnolia leaves painted gold with Christmas balls on green paper. Mrs. John Telscher also used Christmas balls on greens in a table setting for two. Mrs. S. Phelps combined the old and the new with old fashioned greens and a modern white decorated tree on a red and white cloth set with antique white china dishes.

Angels and choir boys made by Miss Barbara Wilson were used as decorations in the windows and on the arrangement table. The Madrigal Singers of Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Numa Snyder presented Christmas carols.

The program also included a demonstration of Christmas arrangements by Mrs. Paul Fetherman. Silvered Queen Anne's lace in a silver bowl was used with a Madonna; a candleboard with greens and red candles was combined with a copper dish filled with yellow mums and yucca leaves.

The arrangement theme was carried through to the tea table, arranged by Mrs. Paul Heller. A white Madonna on a silver tier set with purple and white African violets was flanked by four tall white candles.

The tea committee included Mrs. Roy Houser, chairman, Mrs. Frank Staehle, Mrs. Paul Heller, Mrs. William Hawn, Mrs. Jerome Elwell, Mrs. William Hughes, Mrs. George Dunning, Mrs. Milo Rasely, Mrs. Jacob Haigh, Mrs. John Fisher, Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. William Peacock, and Miss Lou Shafer. Miss Fannie Swartsvelter and Mrs. Elmer Kiefer poured.

Democratic Women Have Holiday Party

There was an excellent attendance at the Christmas program of the Woman's Democratic Club of Monroe County held Wednesday night at the Odd Fellows Hall. Opening with carols by the group, the program included a solo "No Candle Was There," Eleanor Beecher; two duets, "Bells on Christmas Day" and "Silent Night" by Mrs. Beecher and Mrs. Irene Beecher; and two Christmas readings, "The Man Who Missed Christmas," and "The Gift that Meant Everything," both given by Mrs. Howard Eckert. Mrs. William Friedman was accompanist.

Mrs. Harold C. Edward presided at the brief business meeting when plans were made for installation of officers at the January meeting. Refreshments were served by Miss Myrtle Aygle and the members of her committee. The meeting room had been decorated by Miss Angle, Mrs. Floyd Butz and Mrs. Harold Edwards.

Analomink PTA Has Talk By Miss Bryan

Analomink—The Analomink Parent-Teachers Association met on Tuesday night at the school with Mrs. Adie Weidman presiding at the business meeting. Harry Anton, principal of the school, reviewed the attendance regulations and tardiness rules. The Analomink school makes every effort to reduce absences and tardiness in order to instill good habits in the child for his future benefit, he explained. In addition last work is difficult to make up and tends to discourage the child.

The guest speaker, Miss Eloise Bryan, school psychologist for the Stroud Union district, had as her topic, "The Whole Child Comes To School."

"If a child comes to school well-rested, well-nourished, and with a good feeling, he learns better," she said. Some children with good minds do not do good school work because they are worried.

Adults, she pointed out, make excuses for themselves and find reasons why they cannot do certain jobs and children are the same. Often they are blamed and scolded when they should be encouraged. No one really wants to fail, she said, and when children do fail the reason should be found. Radios, TV sets and cars come with book of directions, but a child cannot be brought up on a manual. However, the human machine should be treated as carefully as a good automobile, she said.

Following the program a Christmas party was held with a covered dish supper in the cafeteria. The room was brightened by a lighted Christmas tree and decorations. Christmas music added atmosphere. There was an exchange of gifts and a social time.

Anton showed a colored film loaned by the Bell Telephone Co., "The Spirit of Christmas," and the Biblical story of the Nativity portrayed by Mabel Beaton's marionettes. The film will be shown to all grades of the school next Friday morning.

It was announced that the Christmas entertainment of the school will be held Thursday night, December 22, at 8 o'clock in the Analomink Church. The public is invited. The attendance banner was won by Mr. Anton's room.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Weidman, Mrs. William Pfeiffer, Mrs. Max Hess, Mrs. Mae Cramer, Mrs. Chester Weidman, Mrs. Claire Metzger, Mrs. Vernon Pennell, Mrs. Roland Fritz, Mrs. Tilden Oney, Mrs. Horace Oney, Mrs. Melvin Bush, Mrs. Chester Van Vleet, Mrs. Harley

Effort Methodist Sunday School Plans Program

Effort Methodist Sunday School will present their Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p. m. The children of the Sunday School will open the program with songs, recitations and exercises.

Older members of the church will present a pageant "The Inn At Bethlehem." This drama portrays the influence of the Christ Child on the lives of those who first came to His manger throne. Reuben, the selfish innkeeper, is played by Kermit Feller. Hannah and Rebekah, two poor girls, who work at the inn, are Esther Smith and Connie Rarick. Rena Baumgartner takes the part of Elizabeth, a princess from the royal house. Sara, Elizabeth's maid, is Doris Rinker. Mary, the mother of Jesus, is enacted by Betty Feller, while that of Joseph, her husband, is Clark Smith. The soloist for the drama is Mrs. Scott Feller.

The program closes with the congregation joining in singing "Silent Night," with the benediction by Rev. Leroy Barnerd, pastor of the church.

Everyone is invited to attend.

D of A Tonight

The Daughters of America will hold a Christmas party tonight at the IOOF Hall with a gift exchange to follow the meeting.

On our Wyckoff radio program of the other morning, I discussed the December issue of Pocono Mountains Magazine, now on sale in our Wyckoff stationery department, and urged local readers to support it since it is being published and nationally circulated in an endeavor to promote the resorts of this area which are, to a vital extent, our bread and butter.

I feel it is not wandering too far afield to push this project wherever and whenever possible, for the very reason that the success of our hotels and hotel people naturally reflects upon us all in a material way. Also it seems to me, many people in this area would enjoy an acquaintance with a magazine aimed at their interests, and carrying stories about their own neighbors and friends.

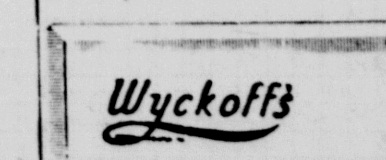

The December issue is, I think, one of the finest published thus far... but then I may be prejudiced. In the first place, it carries the history of my favorite store... the story of my Madonna collection... and my own interview with one of this area's finest and kindest women, 95 year old Mrs. C. B. Staples. It also has a very excellent article on athletics in the town schools... one by Joe Whalen on sports... an interview with Huffman by Oliver (review with Elwood Huffman) by Oliver Wilson... Virginia Robinson's history of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club... a spirited message by Rev. Roger Stimson... and the memories of such well known local personalities as Elsie Logan and Rev. Frank H. Blatt on the Christmases of their childhood. These are only a fraction of the interesting things one will find in the red and green magazine devoted to promoting our Pocono Mountains.

Maybe it's mercenary of me, but I have fallen into the habit of reading articles, listening to lectures, and studying people with the thought in mind, "How does this adapt itself to the Wyckoff Shopper column?" So it was only natural that the minute I saw the stunning magazine pictures of Mrs. Ashton Farrows' slipper collection, I thought of the adorable china shoes and slippers on display at 125 in our gift department. It's quite a tribute to our store's well-roundedness that the interests of almost everyone are reflected upon our well-stocked counters. The truth of the matter is, however, anyone on your gift list who has a hobby can very possibly be remembered with a hobby gift from Wyckoff's this holiday season.

Such a gift was presented by Agnes Holdorf to Dottie Dunn at our office dinner the other evening. Dottie, who paints beautifully, had asked Santa for oil paints—and sure enough, she received some, very ornately wrapped in a newspaper-covered, cord-tied shoe box.

Knowing how Aggie and Dottie both appreciate fun, you can imagine that the fancy wrappings went over with a resounding chuckle—but if you're not out for a laugh, we suggest you look around our stationery department for some of the loveliest wrappings and trappings you've ever seen. We have flat sheets of paper by Hallmark, Norcoros, Dennison, and other companies, as well as large, extra-wide economy rolls that permit one to cut the paper to correspond with any packages to be wrapped. Ribbons or cords, whichever you select, are prettier than ever this year, and available for a dime up.

The Christmas package is one of the loveliest facets of Christmas, and when it comes to friendship it's very often the "tie" that binds.

Stroudsburg Quintet To Invade Scranton Central Gym Tonight

Mountaineers Hope To Keep Streak Alive

STROUDSBURG HIGH fresh from a convincing victory over Carbondale, will invade Scranton Central today in search of victory number three. The host team will be Central High as the Mountaineers play Central for the first time on its home boards.

The two schools, who have played in Stroudsburg for several years, will feature only one game today. The two varsities will clash at 8 p.m.

Stroudsburg is fresh from successive nods over Bangor and Carbondale, after suffering an opening night defeat at the hands of East Stroudsburg High.

Coach John Kupiec announced last night that Scranton Central would be the toughest foe to be met by the Mountaineers at this early point in the season.

Central has reportedly lost some of its height by graduation, but features more speed and a better ball handling club.

Same Starters

Kupiec, not at all pleased with recent practice sessions in which the Mountaineers have taken part, said last night that he would stick with the same lineup that has opened all three games to date.

Bob Adelmann and Tom Savidge will be at the forward posts and high scoring Doug Shook will be at center. Francis "Sonny" Dieber and Don "Ockie" Setzer will open as the guards.

Doug Nichols will also probably be pressed into service before the contest has ended.

Stroudsburg will return to its W. Main St. court next Tuesday against Scranton Central before taking time off from the hardwood wars during the Christmas vacation.

County Circuit Lists Full Schedule

TWO OF the pre-season favorites in the Monroe County Basketball League will clash head-on tonight and four other teams will attempt to improve their championship stock as the circuit features its regular Friday night list of three games.

The contest attracting the most attention at the present time is the one which sends Pocono against Barrett, on the latter's home hardwood in Canadensis.

Pocono, having played only one circuit contest, is currently tied for first place in the standings with Coolbaugh. Each has one victory and no defeats.

Coolbaugh upset Barrett on Tuesday of this week and Coach Joe Murray's cagers are now sporting one win and a single setback.

Chestnuthill, also sporting a sporting a one-and-one mark, will be at home "with Coolbaugh. Chestnuthill will go to the post without Don Beck, regular guard, who suffered a broken little finger on his right hand. The finger was at first believed dislocated.

Polk, another team with a one-and-one record at this early date in the season, will tangle with Tohyanna Township, on the latter's home court in Pocono Pines.

Each court will feature the junior varsity contest at 7:15 p. m. and the main event at approximately 8:30 p. m.

The league will play three more contests next Tuesday and Coolbaugh and Pocono will stage a game originally postponed because of bad weather next Wednesday night. The game will be held at Tannersville.

Varsity 'S' Plans Special Cage Outing

THREE BASKETBALL games will be played at Stroudsburg High next Tuesday, it was decided last night during a meeting of the Varsity "S" Association at the Municipal Building.

Tuesdays proceeds will go directly to the association and will be used to sponsor the annual spring banquet presented by this group.

Stroudsburg High annually grants the Varsity "S" Association one basketball game, so as to enable the association to obtain funds.

The Mountaineers play Scranton Tech in both a varsity and junior varsity encounter on this date. The association will also present its usual Old Timers-Faculty basketball tussle.

Short Tussle

Faculty and Old Timers will clash between the halves of the varsity encounter.

Warren "Mag" Loney, chairman of the game committee, announced that Tuesday will be considered as "Booster Night" by the association.

Each organization member and fans at large are asked to bring at least one guest with them to watch the tripleheader attraction.

College students returning home for the Christmas vacation are particularly urged to attend the attraction.

Players on the Old Timers and Faculty basketball teams will pay admission even though they plan to take part in the "Battle of the Century."

Approximately 25 club members were in attendance last night and following the business session watched movies of the Thanksgiving Day football game between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools.

The movies were shown by George Metropolis, junior varsity grid mentor at Stroudsburg.

Twin-Boro Ladies Bowl

TWIN-BORO Ladies will see action at the Pocono Bowling Center today at 6:55 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Macnicol's Sports Shop vs. Quick's Restaurant.

Alleys three and four—Johnnie's Inn vs. Warner's Funeral Home.

Alleys five and six—Sommer's Brothers vs. Lawson Automotive.

Alleys seven and eight—Bartonsville Hotel vs. Thomas Funeral Home.

Greene-Dreher To Battle Scott Township Foe

NEWFOUNDLAND—Greene-Dreher-Sterling High, riding along on a winning streak of five straight games, will attempt to make it six straight basketball verdicts today against Scott Township, here on the home court of the Stags.

The junior varsity tussle is listed for 7:30 p. m. and the varsity tussle at approximately 8:45 p. m.

Lineup

Coach Henry "Hank" Arneberg is expected to stick with the same lineup that has kept the Greene-Dreher slate clean of defeat to date.

This means that Bob Haag and Captain John Manhart will be at the forward posts and Howard Phillips at center. Walter Hinds and Don Olsommer will man the guard positions.

West End Reorganizes For 1956 Baseball Campaign

EFFORT—West End A.C., an entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, last night, became the first member of that circuit to reorganize for the coming season.

The meeting took place here at the Pohopoko Hotel.

Carl E. Kresge was reelected president, while John Rincker was named vice president. Bob Titus was selected as secretary and Neil Seigerwalt, treasurer.

Trustees

Trustees selected included Lloyd Altemore, Francis Beck, Roy Woodling, John Wernett, Ellis Snyder, Charley Knecht, Oscar Everitt and Kenneth Achy.

Lloyd Foust was nominated as manager, but the move is subject to voting by the club players at the next meeting.

The organization decided to hold all future meetings here at the Pohopoko Hotel and to hold the gatherings on the second Monday of each month.

It was also decided to launch a fund raising campaign at the next meeting. All members at large will make up the fund raising campaign committee, with the club president serving as chairman.

Blisters

Gary Strauss, one of the big pre-season guns, will probably see only limited service in this contest because of blistered feet. Others who may be pressed into service are Bob Butz, Dale Miller, Mike Danko and Denny Horn.

Keat and Miller only returned to practice on Wednesday. Each had been confined to bed by illness since last Friday night.

Glen Heard, who suffered a back injury in the Thanksgiving Day football game between Bangor and Pen Argyl, is still on the sidelines.

Bangor upended both Polk and Chestnuthill before bowing to Stroudsburg in pre-league play.

The Slators play Pen Argyl, away, next Tuesday before adjourning for the Christmas vacation.

Smallwood Stops Adams In Three

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (P)—Hardy Smallwood, 159, Brooklyn, won on a third round technical knockout from Pete Adams, 157½, Newark N.J., in a scheduled eight-round fight at Sunnyside Garden tonight.

Adams was unable to answer the bell for the fourth round because of a bad cut over his right eye.

Santee Triumphs In 'Flat' Mile

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (P)—Wes Santee, America's top miller, was clocked in 4:10.2 tonight in winning a handicap mile on a flat armory floor in a Metropolitan AAU development meet. It was the second fastest flat floor race on record.

Santee, now 23 and a Marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., showed no effort over the wrangle going on regarding his amateur status as he outran 12 rivals with handicaps up to 100 yards.

Snead Sets Record To Pace Field

SANFORD, Fla., Dec. 15 (P)—Slammer Sammy Snead, the "old" West Virginia hillbilly, sliced six strokes off par for a course record today and stepped out front by two strokes in the first round of the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament.

Snead, who at 43 can still give most of the younger pros lessons in how to play golf, carded six birdies and 12 pars for his 33-64. Par for the Mayfair Inn Country Club course which measures 6,205 yards is 36-74.

The Slammer's most spectacular shot of the round came on the 400-yard 17th, where he hit the pin with a seven iron shot from about 135 yards out. The ball stopped 10 inches from the cup for an easy birdie.

Two Strokes

Two strokes back in a tie for second were young Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Ted Kroll of Bethesda, Md. Dow had 32-34, Kroll 33-33.

Seven others, including Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., and George Bayer of Cincinnati, were tied for fourth with 67s.

Souchak, one of the year's top money winners, matched Snead's 33 on the front nine but bogied two of the last holes. He had a bad approach shot which cost him a stroke at No. 16 and after a bad drive on No. 18 his four-foot putt for a par hung on the lip.

Unanimous Vote

In the first unanimous vote since the USTA started its poll in 1947, Scott Frost was designated the three-year-old trotter of 1955 without a dissenting voice from 100 writers.

The speedy son of Hoot Mon-Nora won every major stake this year, and climaxed his campaign by beating aged horses in the $75,000 American Trotting Classic at Hollywood Park, Calif.

Scott Frost is owned by Saul Camp of Shafter, Calif.

In the other trotting divisions the two-year-old laurels went to Saboteur, owned by the Arden Homestead Stable of Goshen, N.Y., and the aged division to Kimberly Kid, property of the Allwood stable of Far Hills, N.J.

Cage Powers May Clash

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (P)—Basketball's two major tournament champions of last season, San Francisco's NCAA-winning Dons and Duquesne's NIT-triumphant Dukes, are expected to have a belated showdown Saturday night.

However, it's no lead-pipe cinch that either will hurdle tomorrow night's opening round of DePaul University's four-team pre-holiday tourney at the Chicago Stadium.

Number One

San Francisco, currently No. 1 in the AP poll, meets undefeated Marquette, another 1954-55 powerhouse, and unbeaten Duquesne takes on almost rugged DePaul, the host school.

The same four teams play Saturday night, winners from tomorrow night's meeting for the title, and the losers playing for third place.

No one was seriously injured although three riders complained of pain and were removed to a hospital for X-rays. They are Chris Rogers, Bennie Sorenson and Don Wagner. The fourth, Robert Usery, continued to ride the remainder of his mounts.

Clear of the tangle, Lustralle, an outsider at $48, went on to win the race. Miss Quibu was second by a length and High Rebel was third.

Winner

Benny concluded he'd be able to beg at least one ticket from each coach; embarrass them into it before a national audience, if necessary.

Conclusion

Benny concluded he'd be able to beg at least one ticket from each coach; embarrass them into it before a national audience, if necessary.

Second Glance

At second glance he noticed the dummy was wearing a chef's hat and wore a sign demanding better food.

There was no comment from the culinary department of the Disciples of Christ School, which feeds 300 students in a central dining room.

Pocono Mountains League To Draw Up Court Agenda

TANNERSVILLE — A discussion of by-laws featured last night's poorly attended Pocono Mountains Basketball League meeting here at Trach's Pocono Hotel.

Only Tannersville, Gray's Chevrolet and the Stroudsburg Poconos were represented at last night's gathering.

Ray Davies, club president, revealed that a schedule making meeting will be held, also at the Pocono Hotel, on Thursday, December 29.

Representatives

Only teams represented at the next meeting will be allowed to campaign in the league. Teams not represented at the next meeting definitely will not be included in the makeup of the circuit.

The entire schedule will be drawn up at the December 29 gathering.

It was reported during the course of the meeting that a team representing East Stroudsburg will campaign in the circuit. At least five other clubs also have signified that they will enter the court circuit.

Two Women Take Over Hamilton Club

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 15 (P)—Two young women have taken over operations of this city's Pony League baseball entry, the Hamilton Cardinals, and one of their first items of business was to change the team's name to Hamilton Redwings.

Jean Marini, 21, of Hamilton, and Carroll Hodge, 22, of Winston Salem, N.C., are the new operators.

Miss Marini, club secretary, took majority stock interest in the club from two former shareholders, Alex P. Brown and John Mooradian of Hamilton.

General Manager Her uncle, Emilio Tatti, president of the club, will act for her in the affairs of the team. Miss Hodge has been named general manager.

Miss Hodge said the first matter to be dealt with is a new affiliation for the club. It was formerly sponsored by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Miss Hodge has worked for the Galveston, Tex., Class B Big State League club, the farm director's office of the Philadelphia Athletics, and was business manager of the Winston Salem team, a part of the farm system of the New York Yankees.

Area Children Invited To Theater Party

THE SHERMAN Theatre and The Daily Record will entertain area children again this year at a Christmas theater party.

Program for the party, to be held Friday, Dec. 23 at 2:30 p.m. at the Sherman was announced jointly yesterday by the theater and the newspaper.

The party is being limited this year to children of pre-school age through sixth grade because of the large number who are expected to attend.

The program will open with group singing, followed by a magician's act by A. A. Widmer, a dancing act, a quartet singing carols and an accordion solo. An hour of film shorts and cartoons will conclude the program. A free gift will be presented to each child.

Toy Makers Add Piety To Playthings; New Games Contain Religious Lessons

By George W. Cornell
NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—New religious notes are tinkling in toyland. And it's not just because Christmas is coming.

Manufacturers, shaking off an old inhibition against using sacred subjects in toys and games, today are adding piety to playthings.

"It seems to be a trend that's growing," said Mel Freud, president of the Toy Guidance Council. "Various kinds of games and gadgets have come out lately with religious lessons in their mechanisms."

Biblical Tie In
Old standbys, given a biblical tie-in or inscriptions, also are now on the counters, such as:

Alphabet blocks, jigsaw puzzles, "christening" and "kneeling" dolls, Bible lotto sets, children's dishes, cards and dominoes. "Recently there's been a notable increase in the number of games and toys with religious content," said Horatio D. Clark, secretary of the Toy Manufacturers Assn. of the U.S.A.

The market for such items, borne on the tide of what industry spokesmen termed "today's revived interest in religion," apparently has been somewhat phenomenal.

Amazing Results
Parker Brothers of Salem, Mass., one of the nation's major producers of games, this fall broke a 72-year-old custom to turn out its first religious game—"Going to Jerusalem." The results? "Amazing and overwhelming," said Robert B. M. Barton, president.

It has, he said, beaten anything since Monopoly swept the country in the early 1930s.

Irving Jacobs, head of the Jacmar Co., New York, reported a similar "tremendous popular response" to an electric biblical game recently turned out by the firm.

He said the game and toy industry in the past has "been skeptical about entering the field," because of the chance of offending religious groups, but with their advice, the innovation has proved sound.

Learn While Playing
Most companies have consulted closely with clergymen of the various faiths to make their religion-based items broadly suitable.

The object is for kids, and adults too, to learn while they play. For instance, in Going to Jerusalem, players turn up cards containing Scripture verses or references to Bible passages to look up to learn their next move in a competitive geographical tour of the Holy Land.

In the electric quiz game, laid out with more than 300 questions from the Scriptures, players must push pegs in the proper answers to cause a light to flash on a board.

Coal, Railroad Interests To Test New Turbine

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Coal interests announced yesterday a coal-fired gas turbine locomotive—industry's answer to the diesel railroad engine—will complete its test during 1956.

Col. R. B. White, chairman of the locomotive development committee of Bituminous Coal Research Inc., said the first coal-burning gas turbine locomotive is expected to be under construction by 1957.

The final test work will be carried out in Alco products' locomotive plant in Dunkirk, N.Y.

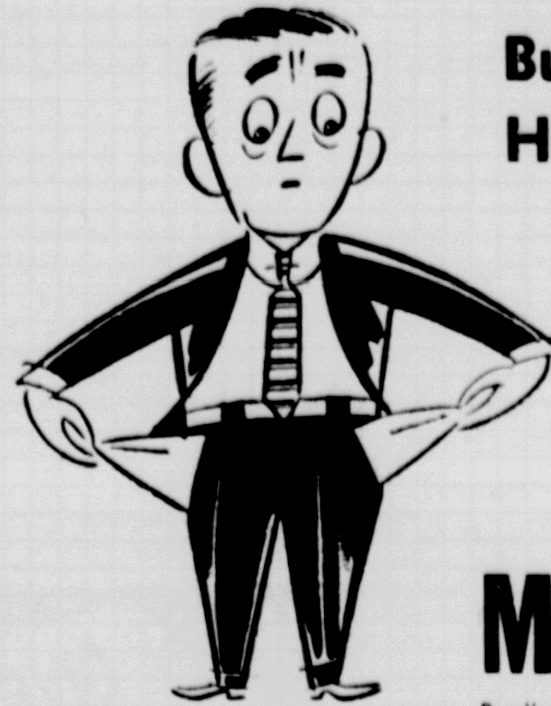

White said J. I. Vellott, who has directed the research on the new locomotive, has accepted appointment as director of Stanford University's solar laboratory at Phoenix, Ariz., effective Jan. 1, and that his present assistant, Peter R. Broadley, will then become director of research on the project.

The new locomotive, first of its kind, uses pulverized coal, burned at high temperature. This produces a heated gas which rotates the turbine, generating electricity which powers the wheels.

The coal and railroad industries have been working on this locomotive for eight years. Some coal people have asserted that such an engine can be operated at savings of thousands of dollars a year in comparison with diesel operating costs.

St. Matthew's Confraternity To Be Inaugurated Sunday

A GENERAL MEETING of parish members of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church will take place 3 p. m. Sunday at the church in East Stroudsburg.

This meeting is called to inaugurate the parish Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Rev. Harold Durkin will present the charter to the parishioners. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, for the successful operation of the CCD in this area, will follow installation of the charter.

The meeting will then adjourn to the auditorium where the invocation will be delivered by the confraternity's spiritual director. A guest speaker will discuss the work of the confraternity and its benefits. A short outline of the six working groups of CCD will be given by the temporary chairman of each division.

Six Sections

The six integrated parts of the confraternity, designed for the spiritual education of the community, are as follows: Fishers, Teachers, Parents, Educators, Discussion Clubs, and Apostles of Good Will. Individual booths explaining the work of each section will be set up for the convenience of those attending the meeting. Literature and a qualified person will be stationed at each booth to explain any further questions relevant to that group.

A general registration will follow the speaker's program and those interested in membership will have an opportunity to register with the group most fitted to their needs and talents. Registrants will receive special graces and indulgences offered by the Holy See to anyone participating either as an active member offering prayer and service, or as an associate member offering prayer and financial assistance.

The Sacred Congregation of the Council of Pope Pius XI says that the confraternity is an organization to be preferred over all others in the parish. The church urges all parishioners to attend this general meeting, thereby insuring its success and the growth of a strong and well informed laity.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting. A re-broadcast of a 15-minute radio program explaining in more detail the work of the confraternity will be presented over WVPO, Sunday, at 1:15 p.m.

Business Outlook To Be Discussed

THE BUSINESS outlook for 1956 will be discussed on "Report From Washington," Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce program, Sunday at 12:45 p. m. over station WVPO.

Washington correspondents of the Pocono Mountains Chamber will summarize the forecasts of 15 trade association executives representing transportation, construction, distribution, manufacturing, agriculture and food industries.

Feature story on "Report From Washington" will be a visit to the colonial Virginia home of George Mason, a father of the Bill of Rights. Dec. 15 is the 164th anniversary of the ratification of the Bill of Rights.

Restore Half Interest

MOSCOW, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced last night it has given its half interest in Romania's valuable oil industry back to the Romanians.

Senator Johnson Talks Politics With Russell

ATLANTA, Dec. 15 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), the majority leader, got a favorable report from a heart specialist yesterday and talked at length with another Southern Democratic stalwart, Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.).

Whatever the two party leaders went over in private, they had nothing of import to disclose to newsmen. There had been earlier reports that Johnson might seek to use his big Texas Democratic convention delegation to rally support behind a Southern conservative for the 1956 nomination.

Russell, who stood third at one time in the sharp 1952 nomination contest in Chicago, generally meets the nominee specifications attributed to Johnson. He was waiting at Emory University Hospital where the Texan went for a consultation and the two spent most of the morning together.

Neither had any political comment immediately afterwards and Johnson left by plane during the afternoon for his Whitney, Tex. home. After Christmas there, he plans to go to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a further checkup before deciding whether he can return to his "daylight to midnight" job as Democratic floor leader.

A&P Employees To Share $2,500,000 Holiday Bonus

EMPLOYEES OF THE Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. throughout the country will share more than $2,500,000 in pre-holiday compensation this year, it was announced yesterday by Ralph W. Burger, president of the food chain.

Every employee with as much as six month's service will receive a part of the annual fund voted by the company's board of directors. Distribution is scheduled for Dec. 17. The amount to be distributed this year is $200,000 more than last year's compensation.

Calvin Cross, Newfoundland native, has been promoted from credit manager of the E. F. Goodrich Store at 735 Main St., Stroudsburg to the same position in a larger Goodrich store in Dover, Del.

Cross, who was hired five years ago by Ed Van Why, local Goodrich manager, will report at Dover on Dec. 30.

He started at the Stroudsburg store as a service man and worked his way up through various posts to the credit management.

Tom Campbell, manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store in Stroudsburg is now conducting an interesting sales promotion involving the beautiful Pepsi-Cola girl, who is always shown in Pepsi Cola's nationwide advertising as a girl in leisure togs.

Featured during the current sale the Pepsi girl blouse of cotton broadcloth and Penney's Pepsi Girl fashion blouses.

A carton of Pepsi-Cola is given to each purchaser of either the blouse or fashion blouses.

EMPLOYEES OF THE J. C. Penney Co. store here have been on the company's payroll since Jan. 1 will receive a Christmas bonus of two weeks' pay, according to Thomas Campbell, manager. A proportionate sum, he said, will be given to all extra or part-time employees who have been on the payroll less than a full year.

Army Enlists Personnel For A-A Service

A NEW U. S. Army Recruiting directive now makes it possible for Army enlistees to enlist for anti-aircraft duty in the Continental United States and for prior service personnel to choose the metropolitan area (city), where anti-aircraft units are stationed, in which they would like to serve.

According to M. Sgt. Riviello, commander of the local U. S. Army Recruiting Station, the new directive provides for enlistments in three categories.

Prior service personnel with previous anti-aircraft artillery experience will be enlisted and assigned directly to a unit in the metropolitan area or city they choose.

Prior service personnel with no previous AAA experience will be assigned to the Army Anti-aircraft and Guided Missile Center at Fort Bliss, Texas, for advanced training and then assigned to a unit in a metropolitan area.

Men with no prior service will be enlisted for the Army Anti-aircraft Command in the Continental United States, be assigned to Fort Jackson, S. C., for basic training and subsequent assignment to Fort Bliss for technical and advanced training prior to assignment to a unit.

Sgt. Riviello will provide further information to interested young men at the Army Recruiting Station in Stroudsburg Post Office on Thursdays from noon to 4 p.m.

G. C. Counterman Services Held

FUNERAL SERVICES for Grover Cleveland Counterman, late of Stroudsburg RD. 2, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday in Lanterman funeral home.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton and Capt. Charles Baker officiated. Interment was made in Prospect Cemetery. Pallbearers were John Weiss Jr., Ernest Weiss, Richard Van Aulen, James Green, Lawrence Counterman and Wilbur Bisling.

While the bald eagle prefers fish as food, the golden eagle's staple diet consists of rodents.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle, every one of its letters, every letter, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Sportsmen's Unit To Seek New Members

PECKS LAKE Sportsmen's Association will launch a drive for new members next Spring. It was decided at a recent board meeting at Porters Lake.

The organization made initial plans to conduct sporting events and other get-togethers. The dates will be announced later.

Board members present were Ted Alton, president; Frank Pallachia, vice-president; Art Weaver, secretary; Harry Foreman, treasurer; Paul McBride, Arch Bush, Walter Oney, Alvin Zeruth, Lawrence Fenical and Herb Overfield.

Mike Reno submitted his resignation as a board member and his son, Joe, was sworn in to take his place.

Reports Given

Reports were received from the following committees: Paul McBride, game; "Bucky" Jones, fish; Frank Pallachia, functions; Alvin Zeruth, entertainment; H. A. Foreman, forestry, and Arch Bush, grounds.

It was reported that the corn crib is almost finished and will be stocked for the association's big game feeding program. The association also has 12 turkey feeders in the area which will be kept filled all winter.

Jones reported that all lakes, except that at Promised Land, will be open to ice fishing. It was announced also that Pecks Pond was stocked heavily with bass this past fall.

The forestry committee plans to plant and distribute game food trees and shrubs in the spring. A large order for Chinese chestnuts will be placed with the Department of Forests and Waters.

It was also announced that the annual banquet will be held Saturday, Apr. 14, at Mosier's Inn, Pecks Pond.

Legislators Warned By Heart Expert

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15 (AP)—Pennsylvania's legislators were cautioned today by a Harrisburg heart specialist to "take it a little easier."

The warning by Dr. Dale C. Stahle was prompted after he was called to the Senate chambers yesterday to treat a 65-year-old lawmaker who had suffered a heart attack.

Sen. Miles R. Derk (D-Lycoming) yesterday suffered his second heart attack in the current session of the General Assembly.

He was reported "doing satisfactorily" but still under oxygen today at Harrisburg Polyclinic Hospital.

"Senator Derk—like many of Pennsylvania's lawmakers—has been under too much strain and working too hard," Dr. Stahle commented.

The heart specialist pointed out that five heart attacks have occurred among Senate members since the 1955 marathon session

Frank Radler Jr., Stroudsburg High Junior, Chosen To Serve As Page Boy For Rep. Walter

A STROUDSBURG High School varsity team pitcher will have a chance to study the fine art of tossing verbal curves in the U. S. House of Representatives in Washington next month.

Frank Radler Jr., 17 N. Second St., has been chosen to serve as page boy for Rep. Francis E. Walter. He takes over the post for one month beginning Jan. 2.

Young Radler was chosen by a faculty committee at the school. A number of boys had expressed interest in the temporary "job." Radler was chosen on the basis of various qualifications—including his scholastic standing, his position as a leader in his class and his all-around interests.

According to Alfred W. Munson, high school principal, who announced the choice yesterday, Radler will be given special tutoring in Washington so that he will not fall behind in his school work.

He will live at the page boys' home in the capitol, will have one meal there each day and will get his other two meals at the House cafeteria. Radler is a member of the Kiwanis Key Club, the Math Club at the school and is vice president of the junior class. He has been very active in sports, particularly as a pitcher on the varsity baseball team and in intramural basketball.

His main interests are mathematics and sports, he says. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Radler, Stroudsburg.
